NABORS SHOWS FORM BUT MACKMEN LOSE

New York, Aug. 14.—The Athletics gave the Yankees a stiff battle today. Nabors held them to four hits. A spasm of wretched fielding in the first inning cost the visitors the game, however, 4 to 3. Hits by Magee and High, three infield errors and a double steal gave the Yankees all the runs in the initial inning.

Witt, Lajoie and McElwee threw the ball wide and far. Cullop was hit hard and was retired in the sixth inning when the Mackmen became threatening.

Score: Athletics, ABHOAE; New York, ABHOAE. Hits, 4 to 3. Errors, 1 to 0. Runs, 1 to 0. Home runs, 1 to 0. Doubles, 1 to 0. Triples, 0 to 0. Struck out, 1 to 0. Bases on balls, 1 to 0. Sacrifices, 1 to 0. Time of game, 1 hour and 45 minutes.

Voix is Released.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 14.—Second baseman James Voix, of the Pirates, was today released to the Toronto International club under an optional agreement.

WILD THROW GIVES INDIANS A VICTORY

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 14.—Wild throws by McKee and Cobb in the ninth inning allowed Chapman to score the winning run, giving the Indians two victories over the Tigers. Chapman stole second, kept on going to third on McKee's poor throw and scored on Cobb's wild peg. Bobby Roth was indefinitely suspended for throwing a pop bottle at a spectator in St. Louis.

Score: Cleveland, ABHOAE; Detroit, ABHOAE. Hits, 3 to 2. Errors, 1 to 0. Runs, 2 to 0. Home runs, 1 to 0. Doubles, 1 to 0. Triples, 0 to 0. Struck out, 1 to 0. Bases on balls, 1 to 0. Sacrifices, 1 to 0. Time of game, 1 hour and 45 minutes.

Jeannette to Fight.

New York, Aug. 14.—Jeannette will make his first appearance against a white opponent in over four years when he meets Jim Smith, of Westchester, at the Avenue Sporting Club, Arverne, Long Island, on Thursday night.

As an added attraction, the Masked Wonder will wrestle Young Hackenschmidt. There will be the usual six and three four-round bouts.

BOEHLING ENTERS BOX IN TIME TO STOP SOX

Nationals Win Hard-fought Battle in Boston, Trouncing Leaders, 2 to 1.

RAY MORGAN WINS THE GAME

Griff's Second Sacker Comes Across with Two-base Drive at Right Time.

By PAUL H. SHANNON.

The Washington Herald's Boston Correspondent, Boston, Mass., Aug. 14.—The "Old Fox" made the right move when he yanked Bert Gallia to allow a pinch hitter to bat for him in the seventh inning of the afternoon game, for this sudden shift, esteemed foolish by the majority of the fans, was just what the Nationals needed to get the 2 to 1 decision over the Champion Red Sox. The base on balls, drawn by Danny Moeller, and the second one issued by Carl Mays in this same inning, was followed by Morgan's long two-baser which metest two runs and a hard-fought ball game.

Gallia nevertheless gets the credit for the victory and he richly deserves it, even though the Red Sox did earn the run they scored off him. Hits by Scott and Hooper, with a pass sandwiched in between during the third, gave the Sox their one and only run of the contest and these two safe hits were all that were made off Gallia during the six innings that he worked.

Boston therefore was leading by this single tally when the Nationals went to bat in the seventh. Here, with two out, McBride was walked after getting in the hole for two strikes. At this juncture Moeller was sent to bat for Gallia and every one figured that Griff might repent this move, as he must have deplored the shift he made last Saturday. But his judgment was vindicated when Moeller, after getting in the hole for two strikes waited and followed McBride to first on a pass. Then came Morgan's double which enshrouded the Boston fans in gloom as two runs scampered homeward.

Outside of this one round, the Nationals could do practically nothing with the stick. They made six hits in the first seven rounds, never more than one to an inning and Morgan got half them. These two passes which cost Mays the game were the last of a series of unsteadiness as previously he had been able to tighten up and stop any threatened scoring.

The Red Sox hit in hard luck. Many of their best drives went right into the hands of the pitchers. Morgan and Jamieson pulling off some star plays while Gallia was working. Perhaps the most effective bit of pitching that Gallia did was when Boston scored a run in the third and then on the third and second with none down. Here Barry struck out while trying to pull the squeeze and then Duffy Lewis followed suit.

In the sixth Milan pulled down what should have been a three-bagger from Lewis' bat. As there was a man on second at the time, it was a narrow escape for Gallia. But if Gallia had a little luck, Joe Boehling had far more than his share. He pitched the last two rounds and he threw a pass to figure out. Some good angel stood by Joe's side in the eighth when Hooper began with a healthy hit to right. Barry tried to sacrifice and then drove Barry to left on the hit-and-run play. Jamieson, who was playing back near the score-board, succeeded in getting under the ball, and as Hooper was on second at this time, he jogged sharply to Morgan, who doubled up Hooper at first on the relayed throw. Lewis followed with a screeching two-bagger, and thanks was nearly knocked over by Walker's torrid smash down the first base line. But he held onto the ball and so saved the ball game. The fielding on both sides was practically perfect, the single error by George McBride costing nothing.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Tomorrow's game will be called at 4 o'clock in order to allow the Washington club time to catch an early train for home.

Every one expected a little "riding" when McBride faced Carl Mays for the first time since the memorable clash at Washington, but there was no apparent friction and no attempt upon Mays' part to use the "bean ball."

The first three men to face Gallia went out on long, hard-hit balls to the outfield and many thought that Bert might be in for a lacing, but he got better as the game progressed and he showed his coolness under fire by fanning both Barry and Lewis in the third where the slightest slip-up might have been fatal.

The Boston team lacked the direction of Manager Bill Carrigan, who was called home to Lewiston early this morning by the serious illness of his father-in-law.

Walter Johnson was in the bull pen warming up and ready to go in had the Red Sox tied the score in the eighth. Luckily the fast fielding of Jamieson saved him from being called on.

Two of Nallin's decisions this afternoon were distinctly against the Senators on the bases and the crowd jeered Umpire Nallin as freely as though he had given them against the Boston team.

Walter Johnson Slated to Twirl Final Game in Boston Today

By WILLIAM PEEET.

During the present season the Nationals have won just four games in Boston, losing seven, with one more to play. Last in the Hub and used the American League year the Red Sox captured every combat far better ball than one would expect from a stepping stone to regain lost ground whenever the Nationals appeared in the city of codfish and beans.

Yesterday's setback by the Griffmen only served to tighten up the American League race the more, and make things interesting for Cleveland, by beating Detroit, edged a bit nearer the leaders. St. Louis and Chicago were idle and lost chances to advance.

For the final game of the series in Boston this afternoon Walter Johnson will be on the mound and there is, of course, the usual chance to win, but Johnson has not been going any too well since the club left home and unless his pals can make a run or two for him, he is liable to be left in the lurch.

The pitching marvel of 1916 undoubtedly is old Eddie Plank. In three visits to the mound that old gent has pitched two two-hits games and one one-hitter. Against Cleveland on his last start he made them look like high school boys. And, mind you, that bird has been flinging the baseball for twenty years.

Detroit last week must have been amazed to lose to the Athletics. As for the Yankees they were doubtless almost stricken dumb to lose twice the same day to the Mackmen.

During the Athletics' Western trip, on which they won only one game, the team played far better ball than one would think from the way they piled up defeats. Connie Mack promised more than a year ago that he would get his team going about mid-season of 1916. He failed to do this, but he did start to win when two-thirds of the season was over.

The Mackmen have now won three out of their last five games, which is an indication that Connie has at last begun to get results. There has been a lot of fun poked at Mack and his team. It begins to look as if Connie was coming in for his turn at bat.

During the spring the Athletics knocked three teams out of first place and pushed the Yankees into last place. Then they boosted the pennant chances of all their rivals. Now the Mackmen may be going to have another inning and kill the pennant chances of some teams.

This one may or may not be true, but they tell it at the Polo Grounds.

TONY SHOWS FORM AND RED LEGS LAND

Cincinnati, Ohio, August 14.—Tony backed up by the Reds' slugging easily felled the Cubs today 6 to 3. McConnell pitched for the Tinks and the Reds clawed him for six tallies in three innings. A brace of singles counted a run for the locals in the first and an error by Wortman, a single, a triple and a homer in the third put the game in the refrigerator. The Cubs outlived the locals but could not connect at the right time. Score by innings:

Batteries—McConnell, Padgett and Elliott; Toney and Wingo. Umpires—Mears, Rigler and Hart.

Ewick Makes Record.

Marquette, Wis., Aug. 14.—What is believed to be a record in baseball was made here yesterday when Pitcher Ewick, of the "Fritzy" baseball team, struck out twenty-five men in eleven innings.

and it confirms the rumor that Wild Bill Donovan's goat is at large.

After the Athletics, had beaten the Yankees twice in the same afternoon, Connie Mack walked over to Donovan to sympathize with him. Wild William saw him coming.

"Keep away from me, Cornelius McGillicuddy," shrieked Donovan. "I'm commencing to look like you."

The last famous Giant to leave that team and manage the Reds was "Buck" Ewing. "Buck" was almost as great a New York idol as "Matty" was. He took charge of the Reds in 1895, and gave them the best run they have ever known. He came near winning a pennant one year, and finished well up in the first division three years in a row. It may be that "Matty" will go just a trifle beyond Ewing's record and finally give Redland a flag.

Says a well-known expert: "Mr. Old Experience will pull Bill Carrigan's Red Sox through the titanic American League struggle to another pennant. This is a favorite line around the circuit ruled by Ban H. Johnson. However, players serving time with various clubs of the league think well of another band of Sox—the Whites.

There are several reasons advanced by those who pick White in preference to Red in the controversy of the Sox. They point to Eddie Collins, who is expected to begin hitting at his old clip at any time and that Joe Jackson is pelting the ball and will continue to wallop it. They tell you that, taking pitching, batting and fielding into consideration, Chicago easily is the class of the league. Chief reasons, however, advanced for picking the White Sox is the schedule. From September 6 to and including September 25, Chicago will engage the enemy on home soil. The last Western trip of the Eastern clubs starts on September 12. While Eddie Collins and his pals are engaging the Athletics, Washington and the Yankees, who should be easy pickings for them, the Red Sox will be battling Detroit, Cleveland and St. Louis away from home.

Of course, it is still anybody's race. It is a wonderful struggle that finds seven clubs out of eight with a winning percentage of 500 or better in the second week of August. That is why the players are figuring out every slight advantage. It will take mighty little to make the pendulum tilt one way or the other. The going is so torrid that the dash down the home stretch might be won by a base hit, error, close decision or a ratny that made it impossible to play off a postponed game."

APPOINT UMPIRES FOR BIG SERIES

The entire list of umpires and the dates they will work in the post season series now being played was announced last night by President Robert L. Young, of the Amateur Commission, the international series being the only one for which umpires have yet to be appointed. Following is the schedule:

Wednesday, August 16—Section A, Woodward; section B, Carr.
Thursday, August 17—Section A, Carr; section B, Woodward.
Friday, August 18—Section A, Hughes; section B, Carr.
Saturday, August 19—Section A, Hughes; Monday, August 21—Section A, Carr; Tuesday, August 22—Section A, Woodward.

Why they're Sensible

OCCASIONALLY, a more heavy, full-powered cigarette than Fatima tastes mighty good. But heavy cigarettes are a little too "oily" and rich to suit most men for long. You are certain to find more comfort in a delicately balanced blend like Fatima. Because Fatimas leave a man feeling keen and fit even after smoking more often than usual. That's why they're sensible. Prove it yourself.
